

... Nothing great will ever be achieved without great men and men are great only if they are determined to be so...

